Greene, Gates Avenue and Madison Street Protestants Call on Him.

Thursday Fixed for a Review of the "Cold Thirteen's" Action.

Several wealthy property-owners on Greene and Gates avenue and Madison street, Brooklyn, called on Mayor Boody this morning to protest against the fran chises granted to the Broadway Railroad Company by the "Cold Thirteen" of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen yesterday. The properly-owners say that when the Railroad Company had first made application for permission to run on Greene and Gates avenues and Madison street, they had appeared nearly five hundred strong before the Aldermen, and offered their protests. They had been promised that their rights would receive proper consideration, and they had every reason to believe that the Aldermen would exclude the streets mentioned when the franchises were granted.

They told the Mayor that the introduction of the trolley on their streets would gridiren the entire ward, leaving no street open as a thoroughfare, and that the lives of their families would be endangered by the deadly motors.

The property owners claimed the right to protest against the granting of the franchises because they said they represented some of the largest taxpayers in the city.

police think that Chief Chisodine will kill his son-in-law if he gets an opportunity.

The arrest of Lovell ends an exceedingly lively chase which took detectives to all parts of the country. The couple were once reported to have been seen at Coney Island, and later at the World's Fair.

Marie is a pretty girl and was the pet of the camp. She was in great demand as a fortune teller by residents of this city, on the outskirts of which the gypsy camp is located.

Marie and Edward were noticed to have been very much attached to each the gypsy on the outskirts of which the gypsy oath was tarty feeling.

In some way Mrs. Lovell's suspicions became aroused, and there was trouble in the camp. Both Lovell and the girl denied there was anything between them, and the gypsy oath was taken as a proof. Not many days elapsed before the young couple was missing, and a note dropped by Marie confirmed the fear that they had eloped.

Chief Chisodine and his followers in council excommunicated Lovell from the band, and at the same time it was said the chief had sworn to kill Lovell if he ever met him face to face.

NEWARK'S HAUNTED HOUSE

Strange Noises Heard and a Man's Hat Found in It.

NEWARK, N. J., July 18.-The alleged haunted house on Wickliffe street, near South Orange avenue, continues to give the neighbors and the police much trouble. A portion of the neighborhood and a detachment of the police force remained up all last night watching for supernatural manifestations in the three-story brick building, which is unoccupied.

Policemen Freise and Baker, who were detailed to watch for the midnight pranks of his spookship, heard a strange noise in the house at an early hour this morning, and with their clubs and pistols drawn and carrying lighted candles made a search of the house from the cellar to the garret.

The noise which attracted the attention of the officers sounded like groans and the slamming of doors.

The only thing the policemen found to reward them for their search was a man's old hat. It is not known whether the owner of this hat or the hat itself had anything to do with the queer noises.

William Stickney, the owner of the building, who lives next door, says he heard the strange noises and was unable to sleep. Some of the neighbors also say they heard queer sounds proceeding from the building. hree-story brick building, which is un-
